ABOUT THE FACILITY:

St. Joseph Mercy – Port Huron (SJMPH), a member of seven-hospital Saint Joseph Mercy Health System, is a 119-bed acute care not-for-profit hospital that provides adult medical/surgical services, emergency care, cancer care, cardiac care, inpatient rehabilitation services including stroke care, orthopedics and joint replacement, and a vast number of other testing, health, and medical services. SJMPH is located in Port Huron, Michigan and is a member of Trinity Health, one of the largest Catholic health care organizations in the United States.

Founded in 1954, by the Religious Sisters of Mercy, the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital facility consists of the original building, constructed in 1954, with expansions taking place throughout its history. The St. Joseph Mercy Hospital campus has undergone significant changes over the past several years, with campus expansions planned for the future. The campus currently includes six medical office buildings as well as a large outpatient rehabilitation facility, and renal dialysis center. SJMPH has a long-standing commitment to the residents of the Blue Water Area and surrounding communities. Patients are cared for in SJMPH's acute-care facility, at one of the two Mercy Family Care physician offices, or at home through Mercy Home Care. St. Joseph Mercy Port Huron offers the area's leading cancer care center.

SJMPH places an emphasis on working with its community of physicians, and is dedicated to enhancing relationships with St. Joseph Mercy Medical Staff to cooperatively meet the needs of providing the best available care for patients.
